A staff of secretaries, clerks and messengers left for Long Branch and will open the executive offices at Ashbury Park.

RECEPTION GIVEN TO REV. AND MRS. CLAPP

Delightful Event in Centre Congregational Chapel Under Auspices of Woman's Association.

In the Centre Congregational church chapel last evening an informal reception was given to Rev. and Mrs. Richard H. Clapp under the auspices of the Woman's association, and it was a very pleasing and satisfactory event. The reception began at 7.30 and continued until about 9.30 and the chapel was well filled during most of that period. A delightful spirit of cordiality prevailed.

Large and beautiful bouquets of cut flowers were in evidence about the rooms, and here and there were small tables where those who desired might sit for refreshments of cake, coffee and candy, which were served by young women.

Three members of Leisinger's orchestra furnished excellent music throughout the reception.

END OF A RECORD BREAKING CONGRESS

Session Which Adjourned Today Has Appropriated Nearly Two Billions

EMERGENCY REVENUE BILL WAS PASSED

And in the Closing Hours the Senate Ratified the Danish West Indies Purchase Treaty — Republicans Allege Extravagance.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Congress adjourned sine die this morning at 10 o'clock, concluding a session record breaking in many respects with appropriations and authorizations for the future running well toward two billion dollars. Only a small proportion of members were on hand to watch the session die. Most had hurried to their homes at the end of the late sessions last night or even days before and a month after the political campaign is finished in November they must return for the short session.

Last night both houses accepted the conference report on the emergency revenue bill without record votes and the senate before recessing an hour after midnight ratified the Danish West Indies purchase treaty, the general deficiencies appropriation bill also was approved as reported by conferees. Today's session was necessitated only by the necessity for time to re-print the measure in the proper form to be signed.

In the closing addresses while awaiting the arrival of President Wilson reference to the long program of legislative activities dominated chiefly by the national defense preparations at a cost of more than $600,000,000 were made.

Democrats lauded the record of the session and commended it to the country while Republicans allege waste and extravagance in spite of the appropriations for defense.

Congress appropriated $1,626,439,210, which with obligations and authorizations for the future makes the total $1,858,384,485. These figures, announced in speeches by Representative Fitzgerald, New York Democrat, and Gillett, Massachusetts, Republican, were defended by the former and attacked by the latter as half a billion dollars greater than any session of a Republican congress.

A resolution by Senator Curtis of Kansas directing the senate lobby committee to investigate the activities of the alleged foreign lobby opposing retaliatory provision of the revenue bill against the Canadian fisheries was passed by the senate before adjournment and Senator Owen announced that he would not further his corrupt practices bill at this session but would let it remain as unfinished business before that body and call it up again next session.

When the gavel fell congress had directed reorganization and re-equipment of the Army and Navy for defense of the country at the unprecedented cost of $655,000,000 with authorizations that will increase the total in three years to nearly $800,000,000. Expenditures, necessitated by preparedness and the calling into action of military forces to meet the Mexican emergency demanded revenue legislation in the closing days of the session. Congress responded by doubling the normal tax on incomes, creating an inheritance tax, munitions tax and miscellaneous excise taxes to raise $265,000,000 and by directing sale of $130,000,000 Panama Canal bonds.

Congress established a tariff commission; a government shipping board to rehabilitate the American merchant marine; a workmen's compensation commission to administer a new uniform compensation law, a farm loan banking system; a child labor law; enlarged system of self-government in the Philippines and enacted many other important laws which had been contemplated by the administration.

The session was disturbed throughout by frequently recurring threats of foreign complications from the European war and imminence at one time of a diplomatic break with Germany; interference with American mails and commerce, invasion of American soil and killing of Americans by Mexican bandits, and danger of actual war with Mexico.

Later in the session trouble arose in the senate over the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, to succeed the late Justice Lamar as a member of the Supreme Court. Weeks of investigation and deliberation by the judiciary committee ended in confirmation of Mr. Brandeis by a large majority.

Four treaties were ratified by the senate. The most important was the long pending Nicaragua convention providing for the acquisition of a canal route and naval station's rights in the Bay of Fonseca for $3,000,000. Another was the treaty with the Republic of Hayti providing for an American financial protectorate. The much-disputed pending treaty with Colombia after several years of consideration was favorably reported from the Foreign Relations committee with an amendment reducing from $25,000,000 to $15,000,000 the proposed amount to be paid for the partition of Panama. The treaty however, was never taken up in the senate because of unrelenting opposition to it on the part of many senators and it remains on the calendar. In the closing hours the treaty providing for the purchase of the Danish West Indies for $25,000,000 was ratified.

In a statement issued following the adjournment of congress President Wilson directed attention to the "helpful and humane legislation" and declared that while he regretted additional legislation dealing with the recent dispute between the railroads and their employees had not been completed he had every reason to believe the question would be taken up immediately after congress reassembled.

MISSIONARY PAGEANT AND BIBLICAL DRAMA

Special Features Being Arranged for Convention of Vermont Sunday School Convention Here.

Preparations are under way for the 48th annual convention of the Vermont Sunday School association, to be held in Brattleboro Oct. 18, 19 and 20. The convention will be held in the First Baptist church, with institute sessions in the Centre Congregational, Methodist, Unitarian and Universalist churches.

Thursday evening, Oct. 19, will be a dramatic evening, for which the Auditorium has been engaged. The value of the dramatic in religious education will be shown in a missionary pageant and a Biblical drama.

The pageant, prepared by Miss Florence Hemenway-Wells of Brattleboro, will be a vivid and thoroughly interesting presentation of the progress of Christianity in non-Christian lands.

The Biblical drama, prepared by the general secretary of the association, Rev. C. A. Boyd of Burlington, will portray in a striking manner the experiences of Ruth, the Moabitess, in leaving her homeland to go with her mother-in-law, Naomi.

General Secretary Boyd has been in Brattleboro this week looking after some of the details of the convention, and in other places in Windham county attending Sunday school institutes.

GUARDIANSHIP CASE BEING ARGUED TODAY

Final Evidence Presented This Forenoon — Mrs. Hiland Haskins, S. H. Yeaw and Physicians Testify.

The last witnesses were heard this morning by Judge A. F. Schwenk of the probate court on the petition of Mrs. Carrie Perry to have the guardianship over her dismissed. Mrs. C. L. Stickney, in whose home Mrs. Perry has lived much of the time, testified as to her failing mental condition. S. H. Yeaw, in whose home she had visited many times, gave similar testimony. Dr. H. P. Greene, called as an expert by the petitioner, answered a hypothetical question based on alleged facts in the case and replied that on such a basis he should say that a person was mentally incapacitated to some extent.

Dr. W. H. Lane and Dr. C. S. Pratt, who had examined Mrs. Perry, testified for the petitioner that they considered her mentally capable for a woman of her years. The arguments are being made this afternoon by Chase & Chase for the petitioner and R. C. Bacon for the guardian.

They returned yesterday armed with a written permit from Milner's father and accompanied by the mother of the girl. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard H. Clapp.

HUGHES ARRAIGNS ADMINISTRATION

Attack Made in Connection with Enactment of the Adamson Law

DECLARES HIMSELF FRIEND OF LABOR

Principles of American Government Underlie Every Contract — Officers Should Stand for Principles That Are Right, Let Come What May.

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 8.—Charles E. Hughes, before an audience here which frequently interrupted him with cheers today, continued his attack on the administration in connection with the enactment of the Adamson law. Mr. Hughes asserted that the "whole country stood aghast" at "the abandonment of executive prerogatives and congressional duty."

"Now if anyone rises in this country to say that I am not the friend of labor," the nominee said, "he knows he is not telling the truth."

"What we need in this country is fair-mindedness. When we have a grievance the thing to do is to examine the basis of fact."

"I want fair wages, but the principles of American government underlie every contract, every opportunity of labor. I say let public officers stand like rocks for principles that are right, let come what may."

Last Tuesday Everett A. Milner, jr., of Ware, Mass., who is 19 years old, and Miss Lucy M. Lester of Providence, R. I., appeared at the office of Town Clerk Carl S. As the town clerk had been warned by a telephone message from Miss Lester's father in Providence not to issue a license to them because the young man was not of age, they did not then obtain what they came for, but left town.

They returned yesterday armed with a written permit from Milner's father and accompanied by the mother of the girl. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard H. Clapp.

Union leaders, on the other hand, claimed at noon that 3,500 men were on strike on the subway and elevated roads of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. and 4,000 men on the Green car system. Theodore P. Shouts, president of the Interborough company, announced that all of the men who had struck on the New York railways lines owned by the interborough could have their positions back with their seniority restored to them if they resigned from the union by 1 p. m. tomorrow.

STREETER AGAIN HEADS VETERANS

Chosen President of County Association in Annual Meeting

ADDRESS GIVEN BY REV. R. H. CLAPP

Company Reunions, Reports of National Encampment, Singing and Story Telling Features of Session Yesterday at Island Park.

The afternoon session of the annual reunion of the Windham County Veterans' association at Island Park yesterday resulted in a larger attendance than did the morning session and the dinner hour, for numerous veterans came to town on the early afternoon trains for the business meeting at 2 o'clock and the following talkfest.

In the business meeting officers were elected: President, Capt. H. C. Streeter of Brattleboro, department commander of Vermont; vice president, L. W. Bush of Brookline; secretary and treasurer E. H. Putnam of Brattleboro; executive committee, H. P. Hunter, Franklin Stockwell and John M. Tucker all of Brattleboro and the following members Mrs. Emily Allen, Mrs. Albert J. Haskins and Mrs. Frank Hildreth, all of Brattleboro.

During the day the annual joint reunion of Companies E and G of the 11th Vermont regiment was held and the old board of officers was re-elected as follows: President, Albert B. Patch of Boston; vice president, Henry J. Allen of Brattleboro; secretary and treasurer, Henry A. Carpenter of Newfane.

The annual reunion and dinner of Company P of the 4th Vermont, was held as customary at the home of Maj. Linn D. Taylor, whose father served in that company. This company has a permanent organization and merely re-elects the old board each year unless deaths make necessary changes. No changes were made this year. Those present were Everett Alden of Taunton, Mass., Ferdinand Klinge of Easthampton, Mass., Lewis H. Lynde of Dummerston, Franklin Stockwell of Brattleboro, Henry Hutchins of Bellows Falls, John Groat of Townshend and C. L. Gould of Springfield, Mass. After the meeting those present went to West Brattleboro and visited Roscoe Fisher, a member of the company, who was unable to attend the meeting.

President Streeter presided at the business meeting of the county association and afterwards at the speaking, the veterans and members of their families being seated on the grand stand. Prof. L. A. Butterfield was the first called upon and he spoke briefly and read the poem, New England's Dead.

Rev. Richard H. Clapp, pastor of the Centre Congregational church, made a brief address in which he praised the veterans of the Civil war for their readiness and promptitude in answering the call to arms to fight for a united country. He pointed out that the desire of every true American is to do the best for the entire country and all of its inhabitants; not to do something that will be beneficial only to a class. His hope, he said, is to see the United States in a position at the close of the present world disturbances, to lend a helping hand to any nation that may be in it, but for the brotherhood of man.

A. A. Butterfield of Jacksonville spoke briefly in approval of military training in the public schools.

W. H. Goodnow of Newfane, a member of Gettysburg post, No. 191, of Boston, said that 50 years ago he left God's country, but had returned to Windham county to spend his last days and was glad to meet with comrades again.

As Mr. Goodnow finished speaking Albert S. Fox of Boston, who is a guest of his cousin, George E. Fox, arose and said that he, too, was a member of Gettysburg post of Boston. He spoke briefly.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Doolittle of South Vernon sang a duet without accompaniment and later Mr. Doolittle sang While We Were Marching Through Georgia and led the veterans in singing the chorus.

Peter S. Chase told some stories. H. P. Hunter of Brattleboro, adjutant general of the department of Vermont, and Department Commander Streeter gave brief accounts of their trip to Kansas City to attend the national encampment and L. W. Bush of Brookline and Mrs. Calista Bangs of Brattleboro, past department president of the Woman's Relief corps, spoke briefly.

The meeting adjourned, after a vote of thanks was extended to the management of Island Park for the use of the pavilion and grounds.
